5. Nostalgia

On May 6, 2012 at approximately 0205 hours, Officer Waddington was traveling Warwick Avenue northbound when he observed the Nostalgia Bar and Grill located at 557 Warwick Avenue was still occupied. It appeared that the band that was playing at the bar was loading their trailer in the front of the building. Officer Waddington contacted dispatch to find out if Nostalgia had called in for an extension for their closing. As the officer pulled on to the side of the building, he also noticed approximately 10 to 15 people still in the rear of the business near the exit door. Dispatch advised the officer at that time to contact the OIC Lieutenant Forde. When the officer spoke with Lieutenant Forde, he indicated that the bar had called at approximately 0202 hours for an extension which was past the 2 o'clock closing time. Lieutenant Forde also stated that the male who called for the extension sounded intoxicated. Officer Waddington entered the bar and made contact with the owner Joseph Shaw. Mr.

Shaw told the officer that he had attempted to contact the station prior to his 2 o'clock closing but was unable to contact the OIC. He said that he immediately called back taking him over the closing time for an extension. It appeared that the band still had numerous items to remove from the bar and there were also sever waitresses cleaning bottles from the bar and tables. Officer Waddington advised Mr. Shaw that there were also people hanging around in the back entrance of the business. Mr. Shaw stated that he did not know that people were still on the property due to the fact that he was attempting to close down the bar. Mr. Shaw was advised that this incident would be reported to the Board of Public Safety.

(12-2279-OF)

6. Down Under

In that on April 1, 2012 Officer Parillo responded to Warwick Police Headquarters in reference to a passed assault. Upon arrival Officer Parillo met with the reporting party. In her written statement the victim stated that on 3/31/12 she had gone to Down Under with her cousin and friends for a night out. The victim stated that at approximately 0015 hours while she had been dancing her left eye had been hit causing profuse bleeding, she stated she was ushered to the ladies room where approximately 5 to 7 ladies helped her. The victim stated that she had been told by a few patrons that she had been punched by the DJ who had intended the punch for someone else who at the time had ducked. The victim was taken by a friend to Kent County Memorial Hospital where she had received 5 stitches and also noted that the bar had not called the police. ( 12-1623 OF)
